Dennis Cziske—Kingston Ferry Advisory Committee update - Change in fare setting process, now legislature will set fares. He urged people to contact their representatives. Projection numbers published show that it should not be necessary to raise fares or cut service.

Initial public comments: None

Approval of Minutes of Last Meeting Approved as published

Guest Speakers

Scott Diener—Kitsap County DCD. Update of DCD activity. 2011 workplan. Postponed from Jan 11, did not attend - Steve Heacock’s remarks

Jeff Shea— Explained a County proposal to reduce speed limit on Cliffside Road from Bridge View Drive to Hood Canal Drive to 30mph. The purpose is to improve the safety for cars coming out of Bridge View. Notice of upcoming public meeting will be published in the Herald and signs posted on the roads. He promised notification signs would be more readable than the last ones.

GHAAC Committee Presentation/Updates
Hansville Community Center holding Valentine Party on February 12 – wine, chocolate, music, silent auction. $15 tickets available. Drop off days begin again. Art Guild is planning a studio tour for April and a fashion show. South Hood Canal Drive Neighborhood thanked Cliffside for including them in their emergency preparedness.
planning. Greenways has elected new officers for the year. They are getting help from the horse riding community, who have built a bridge over a muddy area. Midsound Fisheries Enhancement is doing a study to see if Hawks Hole creek has salmon in it, in which case it might be possible to get a grant to improve it for salmon habitat. A resident wants to donate a totem pole to the Greenways Assoc. but it appears that the cost to install it at the entrance to the trails, or elsewhere, would be prohibitive. They are looking for a solution. It was reported that there have been daytime break-ins in Driftwood Key and Shorewoods.

New Issues/updates on prior issues

Rebecca Pirtle – clean up at store substantially finished. Will hold a public meeting to give a summary of work and monitoring plan. Security cameras will be installed at the park. Boat launch project back with DF&W for further study. The lighthouse has received a grant of $100,000 for restoration. It may close briefly for painting and re-roofing. They may have to do fund raising to complete the work. The road department is holding a public meeting on Jan 26 on the subject of realignment of Hwy 104 in Kingston. She reminded members that they need to complete annual registration form with the county.

Steve Heacock introduced himself as the new liaison. He is an environmental coordinator for the county and the 2011 SEPA project coordinator. He lives in Kingston and is a member of the Kingston Advisory Council. He can be reached at 360-337-5777 and sheacock@co.kitsap.wa.us

He reported a SEPA application to use bio-solids for fertilization of trees on the tree farm above Ponderosa. Foritano mentioned that it had been announced and reviewed earlier.

Scott Diener had tasked him with urging us to update the Work Plan to show accomplishments and new goals. It was proposed that the executive committee would review and bring it to the full group for completion. We should have it completed by the March 8 meeting.

He reported that there has been some activity on moving stuff off the Eyer property.

Issues/Concerns not otherwise covered

New By-Laws and Request for Replacements. Judy Foritano announced that the revised Bylaws had been approved by the County and are in effect. GHAAC is seeking applications from people wishing to represent the Admiralty Twin Spits, Foulweather Bluff, and Skunk Bay Neighborhoods and a youth representative between the ages of 15 and 19. Application forms are available at http://www.kitsapgov.com/volunteer/boards/ghaac.htm

Steve Bauer thanked the group, saying that the Advisory Councils have been extremely beneficial to their communities. He commended members for sticking with it through difficult times, and said he is very proud of the group. John thanked Steve on behalf of the group.
