Kitsap County is issuing a Request for Proposals (RFP) from interested professional architectural, engineering or general consulting firms to perform plan reviews of the broad range of occupancies regulated by the International Residential and Building Code in support of permit applications. The basis for such reviews will be the 2015 International codes as adopted by Washington State combined with local amendments and existing review policies. Reviews are accomplished under the authority of the Building and Fire Code Officials in the Department of Community Development and are necessary to facilitate processing and approval of building permit applications within the unincorporated areas of Kitsap County.
