Our Mockingbird

Thursday, March 23, 6:30 p.m.

“A provocative, honest and inspirational commentary on race relations in the 21st century.” Our Mockingbird relates the story of students from two Birmingham, Alabama high schools - one black, one white – as they “collaborate on a remarkable production of the adapted play, To Kill a Mockingbird.... They work together, united by a common purpose, and they come to know each other. Their lives, and ours, are better.”
